House of Today Scholarship holder requirements

The House of Today scholarships are awarded to a limited number of designers per year. As such, we expect awardees to make the best out of their academic experience and adhere to the below requirements:

- The candidate must provide complete and correct information that is truthful to the best of their knowledge.
- The House of Today Scholarship awardee is expected to attend all classes and tutorials. Attendance will be monitored, and any student with an unacceptable attendance record may risk the termination of their Scholarship. Exceptions to attendance only apply if the candidate is ill.
- Candidates must maintain a good academic standing throughout their chosen programs.
- Scholarship holders are expected to attend a select number of College and University events, acting as an ambassador of the House of Today scholarship program. This entails promoting the scholarship and its benefits to potential donors, and meeting scholarship supporters at these events, during and after course completion.
- Students who receive a scholarship from House of Today are encouraged to participate in a 'giveback agreement'. This would enable House of Today to continue providing opportunities to future students. The details of the agreement are to be agreed upon between the student and House of Today.
- And of course, the design world is governed by respect. We expect candidates to conduct themselves with respect and dignity.
- House of Today reserves the right to revoke scholarships if the requirements are not met.

Terms of the House of Today Scholarship

Awarded scholarships will be paid directly to the indicated University's Tuition Fees account. Applicants must enroll for their program during the same academic year for which they have applied for funding. If an applicant is unable to do so, for any reason, the Scholarship will be withdrawn. In order to ensure the long-term sustainability of the Scholarship Program, House of Today strongly encourages students to apply to reputable public universities and colleges, as it allows for greater funding support for students, to cover their living expenses abroad. Choosing to enroll in public institutions also enables House of Today to grant more scholarships and provide a wider pool of aspiring students with the opportunity to receive a higher education.
